Description

A beautiful set of eight solid walnut chairs in the Louis XIII style, dating from the late 19th century. The straight backs, slightly curved at the top, are upholstered in elegant caning in perfect condition, which is also used for the seats. The turned baluster legs, typical of the Louis XIII style, rest on sturdy, well-proportioned feet. The simple, structured stretchers emphasize the overall architectural rigor. The patina is warm and even, highlighting the quality of the walnut. The chairs are in perfect condition, stable, and without any play, ready to be used with or without cushions. A harmonious set, ideal for a characterful dining room, a country house, or a classic interior. Delivery within Metropolitan France: EUR160. Contact us for more information.
