Description

Rare pair of wrought iron andirons, entirely hand-shaped and riveted, with a strong sculptural presence. 20th-century craftsmanship, made using a traditional riveted assembly technique, without any welding. Two stylized dogs with slender, dynamic lines, reminiscent of a stylized mastiff. The modeling of the heads, the hammering of the metal, and the balanced proportions give the pieces a truly sculptural dimension. The movable hind legs recall their original function while highlighting the quality of the craftsmanship. Length: 36 cm Maximum width: 10 cm Excellent condition. Deep and even antique patina. Authentic pieces of wrought iron art, both utilitarian and decorative, intended for a distinctive interior. I thought of them as andirons, but they could also simply be used as decorative
