Description

Pair of white marble sculptures depicting two resting lions. This pair, of exceptional quality, is a replica of the lions adorning the tomb of Clement XIII by Antonio Canova. Brought back to France in the 19th century by a traveler on the Grand Tour, a member of high society with a passion for art. The exquisite detail, evident in the manes, for example, testifies to the artist's mastery. This pair is ideal for displaying symmetrically, creating a beautiful 17th-century decorative effect in a refined interior. Shipping is available within France and worldwide via secure, insured parcel with order tracking. Collection is also possible at Mas d'Avalrich, Montéscot 66200, France (tel: +33 6 11 14 25 33).
