Description

An elegant Venetian lacquered mirror dating to the late 19th century, crafted according to the refined Venetian decorative tradition. The carved and shaped wooden frame features a rich ornamental motif in the late Baroque/Rococo style, characterized by scrolls, leafy elements, and a wavy cornice with a central panel. The polychrome lacquer in shades of Venetian red and gold is embellished with painted reserves depicting delicate 18th-century scenes, inspired by gallant painting, lending the overall effect great elegance and decorative value. The mirror, with its wavy and harmonious lines, is perfectly integrated into the structure and enhances the frame's refined silhouette, making it particularly suitable for classic, eclectic, or contemporary settings where a distinctive antique
