Description

Raak 1970 - Pair of wall lights Chrome & amber cabochons Superb pair of wall lights with a decidedly vintage design, combining polished chrome and decorative elements in amber cabochons. An iconic example of 1970s aesthetics. General Description: These wall lights consist of a vertical chrome-plated metal cylinder, partially pierced at the top by a frieze of oval windows that allow a warm light to filter through. The circular base is adorned with multiple round cabochons in resin or amber-tinted glass, creating a warm and decorative lighting effect when lit. The lower base in textured clear molded glass adds contrast and lightness to the overall design. The interplay between mirrored chrome, transparency, and caramel hue gives these lights a strong visual presence, typical of Space
