Description

Description Elvira Fustero's gouache painting features an abstract composition structured through layered planes of ochre, plum, ivory, and black. Broad, deliberate brushstrokes intersect with linear marks, creating balanced spatial relationships across the surface. The restrained earth-toned palette and visible brushwork emphasize material texture and compositional clarity. The work reflects late 20th-century European lyrical abstraction, focusing on gesture, tonal harmony, and formal structure. Artist Elvira Fustero (b. 1947) is a Spanish painter known for her abstract compositions exploring gesture and tonal balance. Artist Details Born in 1947, Fustero developed her practice within the context of post-war European abstraction. Her work investigates the relationship between structured
