Description

The exotic elegance of bamboo revisited. This carved wooden mirror, imitating bamboo, embodies the decorative taste for exoticism that permeated the 20th century. Its frame, punctuated by knots and fluting, evokes the natural lightness of bamboo while maintaining the solidity of worked wood. A rare and spectacular size. With its generous proportions, it far exceeds the usual dimensions of this type of mirror. This exceptional size gives it a strong architectural presence: it structures a wall, enlarges the space, and immediately captures the eye. A charming patina. The glass has lovely pitting, delicate traces of time that enhance its authenticity without detracting from the clarity of the reflection. The piece is in very good condition, with a sound and harmonious structure.
