Description

This charming little half-moon commode embodies the delicate Louis XV-Louis XVI Transition style, a blend of classical rigor and decorative whimsy. Its yellow breccia marble top, encircled by a finely molded border, adds a precious mineral touch to the piece. Veneered in mahogany and rosewood, this marquetry piece features two curved drawers, each adorned with gilt-bronze foliate handles, chased keyhole escutcheons, and a matching key. The lock is functional, a testament to a piece of furniture that is both practical and refined. The uprights are highlighted with finely crafted bronze mounts, which extend the line to the cabriole legs, themselves finished with scrolled bronze sabots. With its harmonious proportions and meticulous decoration, this chest of drawers will naturally
