Description

? Coffee table attributed to Roger Le Bihan - Modernist design in glass and metal ? An iconic piece of French design from the 1950s and 60s. This elegant circular coffee table, attributed to designer Roger Le Bihan, perfectly illustrates the modernist aesthetic of the era: clean lines, an airy structure, and a subtle interplay between transparency and metal. ? The black metal frame with its fine lines creates a graphic and balanced silhouette. The slender legs and central circular band lend the whole a great visual lightness, giving the impression that the glass top is floating above the structure. The glass top shows some scratches from use, natural evidence of its history and authenticity. These discreet marks do not detract from the table's elegance and contribute to the charm of vintage furniture. In a living room, a
