Description

Empire Mahogany Armchair - 19th Century.
Elegant Empire period armchair in mahogany, resting on four saber legs at the rear and cabriole front legs. French work from the early 19th century. Description: This armchair features a simple and refined structure, typical of the Empire style: a slightly curved back framed by straight mahogany uprights; scrolled armrests resting on cabriole supports; a simple and elegant seat rail; cabriole front legs and saber rear legs; a beautiful warm and glossy patina highlighting the wood grain; and upholstery in a green fabric with fine vertical stripes. The upholstery is in place, of a later period, with piping around the edges. Condition: Sound and stable structure. Beautiful antique patina with signs of wear consistent with its age. Fabric shows visible marks, wear, and
