Description

Coffee table designed by the designer and interior architect Jean Maurice Rothschild. Our table rests on a wrought iron tripod base with strongly flattened ends. This base supports three statues representing figures dressed in medieval-style clothing, supporting the tabletop like Atlantes. They are made with a material that perfectly imitates wood. The tabletop is white marble veined with black and encircled by a wide band of hammered wrought iron adorned with three rings. Jean Maurice Rothschild (1902-1988) was a French interior decorator and furniture designer. His most famous works are the furniture he created for the first-class smoking room and grill of the ocean liner Normandie and that made in 1937 for the Eiffel Tower restaurant in Paris. From 1917 to 1919, he studied at the École
