from the 19th through the 20th century, they were a cornerstone of the Guild of St. Bernulphus. Key members and details include: Gerard Brom (1831-1882): A foundational silversmith. Jan Hendrik Brom (1860-1915): A prominent silversmith known for creating detailed, silver-gilt items such as monstrances (1876, 1898). Jan Eloy and Leo Brom: Continued the firm's legacy into the mid-20th century, notably designing the coat of arms for Radboud University in 1923 and creating liturgical art, such as a 1949 monstrance. Works by the Brom family are characterized by meticulous, traditional craftsmanship and are often found in museum collections, such as the Museum Catharijneconvent in Utrecht.
