Description

This magnificent rug has undergone a thorough cleaning, hand-lined with 100% linen fabric, and meticulous inspection by our experts in our workshop. It is now ready to grace your home. A superb Napoleon III period desk rug, crafted by the prestigious Aubusson Manufactory in the 19th century, this piece elegantly illustrates the decorative refinement characteristic of the Second Empire. The design features a richly ornamented composition of scrolling foliage and arabesques with generous curves, framing a central medallion in deep shades of purple. At its heart, a delicately rendered floral bouquet unfolds with roses and foliage in powdery hues, subtly contrasted by touches of ivory, soft green, and coral. The floral spandrels balance the whole and emphasize the harmony of the composition. The warm and sophisticated palette blends burgundy, old rose, golden beige, and cream in an elegant interplay of contrasts, typical of the Napoleon III style. The design, both opulent and perfectly structured, brings character and distinction to an office, study, or classic interior. With its generous dimensions (180 x 215 cm), this rug fits ideally under a desk or as a centerpiece in a reception area. A true testament to Aubusson's craftsmanship, it will appeal to decorative arts enthusiasts and collectors seeking authenticity and timeless elegance. A charming piece, combining historical prestige with a remarkable decorative presence.
