Description

18th Century Chair Cover with Two Birds.
Superb 18th-century chair cover, meticulously worked in petit point. The central scene depicts two birds delicately perched on a mound, surrounded by an elegant floral design composed of flowers in harmonious hues and stylized foliage. The whole is framed by a rich ornamental border with motifs typical of the 18th century, emphasizing the balance and refinement of the composition. The colors, subtly softened by time, retain all their depth and charm, giving this piece a remarkable decorative presence. This antique textile is ideal for upholstering a period armchair or chair, restoring an antique seat with authenticity and elegance. It can also be transformed into an exceptional decorative cushion. A piece full of poetry and character,
