Description

This delicate ink and wash drawing is an early work by the Venetian artist Liliana Cossovel. Dated 1946, it reflects the modernity of the post-war Venetian school. The composition focuses on pure architectural forms, notably the monumental silhouette of a dome (reminiscent of Santa Maria della Salute), rendered with remarkable economy of line. The wash technique creates a beautiful play of light and shadow, capturing the misty, ethereal atmosphere of the Venetian lagoon. As a significant figure in the 20th-century Venetian art scene, Cossovel transforms a traditional vista into a poetic, nearly abstract interpretation.
