Description

Elegant and unique sculpture in Swiss pine, finely carved and painted. The saint is depicted tied to a trunk, which also serves as a support for the sculpture. He is depicted standing, his chest exposed, on which are wooden arrows, as in traditional iconography. This work highlights the stylistic refinement of the details, the delicacy of the carvings, and the perfection of the paintings. It is a sculpture of great taste and refinement, capable of adding a touch of class and antique to any space. Manufactured in the Venetian school, mid-18th century.
