Description

Large reliquary monstrance of Saint Bridget in gilded metal, dating from the late 19th to early 20th century. This impressive devotional piece (53 cm high) features identified relics displayed at the center beneath a hinged glazed compartment. The ecclesiastical seal remains present and intact. The monstrance is preserved in its original fitted case with padded interior. The gilding is well preserved, showing only minor wear consistent with age. An authentic and decorative religious object, suitable for a collector of sacred art, a cabinet of curiosities, or as a distinctive statement piece in an interior. Careful shipping available worldwide.
