Description

German 800 Sterling Silver Centerpiece - Brückmeyer, Late 19th Century - Jardinière and Baskets in Engraved Crystal Description: Important German 800 sterling silver centerpiece set, made in the late 19th century by the Brückmeyer manufactory, renowned for the quality of its decorative silverware. The set comprises three pieces: a central jardinière and a pair of baskets with removable handles, all with their original crystals. The superbly scalloped crystals are entirely wheel-engraved with floral and star motifs, a lengthy and precise process reserved for high-quality pieces. The sterling silver mounts feature rich repoussé, chased, and openwork decoration, combining scrolls, cartouches, and trelliswork, typical of the grand historicist German silversmithing of the late 19th century. The craftsmanship is of a very high standard, with perfect stylistic harmony among the three elements. The state of preservation is exceptional: crystals without chips or cracks, well-preserved mounts, a complete and intact ensemble--a particularly rare occurrence for this type of antique centerpiece. A prestigious display piece, ideal for a grand table setting, a reception room, or a collection of European silverware.
