Description

19th Century Empire Style Mantel Clock with Patinated Bronze Lion - Black Marble and Gilt Bronze Dimensions: H 45 x W 27 x D 15 cm. This elegant Empire/Restoration style mantel clock is crafted from black marble, adorned with finely chased gilt bronze mounts and surmounted by a lion in the round. The circular white enamel dial with Roman numerals rests between two columns of veined green marble, providing a refined contrast to the black marble structure. The upper section is decorated with a large gilt bronze motif depicting foliage. The base features a decorative composition including a laurel wreath and two stylized winged figures. The lion, a symbol of power and authority, is rendered with fine modeling and a striking sculptural presence. Features: Period: 19th century Style:
