Description

An Art Deco side table in precious wood, made in Spain in the 1930s. This small accent table features an elegant circular top with radiating marquetry, structured in quarter-sawn veneer that converges towards a central round medallion in red leather, adding a warm and refined touch. The edge of the top is slightly raised, forming a thin molded band that frames the surface and highlights the depth of the glossy varnish. It rests on three straight, sturdy legs, sheathed in the same flamed veneer, which emphasize the clean and balanced geometry of the piece. Ideal as a side table or end table, this table perfectly embodies the Spanish Art Deco aesthetic of the 1930s with its combination of clean lines and luxurious materials.
