Description

Bohemian glass standing drageoir engraved with rocaille patterns & 19th century foliage. Tableware in Europe has always been the center of the arts. An honor to the consumed goods, bohemian glassware & crystal and its translucent appearance with multiple facets invites itself there, beautiful, engraved and noble. A true masterpiece of 19th century glass craftsmanship in Germany or Austria, this drageoir stands out for its elevation thanks to a pedestal that supports its body in a bowl, topped with a lid mounted in a capital, an inverted drop handle crowning the whole. Strewn with engraved patterns inspired by the neo-classical 19th century, rinceaux & rocailles mix, marking the split between the styles of the Ancien Régime to give way to a freer movement, in accordance with the philosophy &
