Description

Male Figure
Brown patinated bronze
Cast in the second half of the 20th century
Stylised male figurine standing with arms raised in a dynamic and expressive gesture.
The composition highlights an elongated silhouette with simplified volumes. The treatment of the body emphasises line and movement rather than detailed anatomical realism, in a modernist spirit characteristic of 20th-century sculpture. The nudity is rendered with restraint, integrated naturally into the overall sculptural rhythm.
The brown patina enhances the relief and adds warmth and depth to the surface.
The sculpture bears the inscription "bronze reproduction," indicating a decorative cast produced in the second half of the 20th century after an earlier model.
A decorative work of the 20th century.
Subject: Male nude
