Description

An elegant Louis XV style fire screen in finely chased gilt bronze. The frame features a rocaille decoration characteristic of the Louis XV style, with flowing lines, scrolls, and delicately crafted plant motifs. The quality of the chasing and the beautiful gilding lend this piece a particular refinement, typical of decorative pieces inspired by 18th-century furniture and objets d'art. Both decorative and functional, this fire screen was designed to protect against the direct heat of the fire while adding an elegant touch to the interior. Today, it also makes a beautiful decorative element for a fireplace or a classic interior. The fire screen is in very good condition, with well-preserved gilding that highlights the details of the decoration.
