Description

Plant pot on a column, Sarreguemines Faience Factory, early 20th century. Height: 88 cm, Width: 38 cm. A substantial glazed earthenware plant pot resting on its matching column.

Decorated in deep Sèvres blue enhanced with gilding, in the style of the luxurious productions of the Belle Époque. The Sarreguemines factory, founded in 1790 and developed in the 19th century under the impetus of Paul Utzschneider, experienced considerable growth, notably thanks to commissions from Napoleon I. Renowned for the quality of its glazes and the richness of its decoration, it established itself as one of the major European ceramic centers. This piece is captivating for: the intensity of the glazed blue; the delicacy of the gilding; the architectural elegance of the column; its striking decorative
