Pitcher In Marbled Orange And Blue-green Glass Paste By Georges De Feure

390 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Description

Marbled glass paste pitcher with a globular body resting on a rounded base. The neck is flared and ends with a slightly protruding spout. A curved side handle connects the top of the neck to the shoulder of the container. The surface has a slightly granular and nuanced appearance in graduated tones ranging from green at the base to ochre and orange-yellow hues on the upper part and neck. The piece is signed Georges de Feure under the base. Georges de Feure (1868-1943) was a painter, illustrator, and decorator associated with the Art Nouveau movement, and he designed furniture, posters, stained glass, and decorative objects. Very beautiful piece. Depth 15.5 cm. Width with handle 18 cm. Height 18 cm. Carefully packaged. Shipping available: France / International. Payment: Bank transfer / Credit
