Description

Rare and authentic Bhuj from the Kutch region - 19th century - Total length 73cm, complete with its "Secret Stylus". A prestigious Bhuj-type model, similar examples of which are held in the Louvre Museum and the Grenoble Museum.

Provenance: Princely state of Kutch (India) - 19th century - Remarkable elephant head carved at the base of the blade. Exceptional dimensions: Total length of 73 cm - 20 cm blade attached to a handle richly chiseled with floral motifs from Gujarat. Secret system: The pommel unscrews to reveal an original 38 cm stylus with a perfectly integrated and functional 25 cm blade. A high-quality collector's item, representative of the excellence of 19th-century Indian goldsmithing. Free shipping to mainland France and Corsica. Careful packaging. Tracked shipping within
