

Japanese Imari Porcelain Ginger Jar With Lid, Arita, Late Meiji Period

400 EUR

Signature : Imari

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Ceramic

Diameter : 12.5 cm

Height : 25.5 cm

Description

A charming Japanese Imari porcelain ginger jar with cover made in Arita, Japan in the late 19th century. Arita was the historic centre of Japanese porcelain manufacture and the origin of the famous Imari export wares admired by European collectors for centuries.

The jar is of elegant baluster form with a domed lid and pointed finial, reflecting traditional East Asian storage jar designs inherited from earlier Chinese vessels.

Decorated in the classic Imari palette of cobalt blue and iron-red enamels, the surface is arranged with alternating panels showing flowering branches with a bird in flight and stylised floral motifs. The shoulder and base are enriched with geometric borders and dense blossom decoration typical of Imari porcelain.

Dealer

Gillers Antiques

Specialists in 19th-century European silverware, porcelain and décor

Mobile : +44 7738009924

Buntingford SG9 0PY

This type of covered jar was produced both for domestic use and export and became a popular decorative form in European interiors during the 19th century.

Dimensions

Height: 25.5 cm

Diameter: 12.5 cm

Weight: 774 g

Condition

Antique condition. A small chip is present on the inner rim of the lid. Otherwise the piece remains in excellent antique condition with no cracks or restorations.

Please study the accompanying photographs carefully as they form an integral part of this description. If you have any questions, we will be happy to answer them. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance.