Description

"Medusa" model, designed by Roberto Pamio for Leucos in 1967. Opal and colorless glass diffuser resting on a cast aluminum base. A beautiful light fixture due to its size, producing a pleasant, diffused, spherical light. Each piece is unique, being handcrafted. Original push-button switch, marked Leucos. Roberto Pamio's creations are becoming increasingly rare. His expertise is highly prized by enthusiasts and collectors of Italian design. Manufacturer's label visible in one of the photographs. The Leucos company was founded by Eugène Pamio near Venice in 1962. Glassmaking in the Murano region, where craftsmanship is considered an art form, is renowned worldwide. Leucos is a high-end glass manufacturer that respects the expertise and tradition of handcrafted glass. The company has
