Description

An elegant Louis XVI style jardinière on a stand, crafted from carved and richly decorated wood. It boasts a beautiful almond-green patina enhanced with gilding, highlighting the numerous sculpted details. The circular basin is adorned with an openwork frieze and decorated on the front with a finely carved ram's head, a characteristic motif of the neoclassical decorative repertoire inspired by the Louis XVI style. The piece rests on three fluted legs joined by a substantial turned and carved central stretcher. The tripod base is decorated with acanthus leaves, gadroons, and beaded motifs, demonstrating the high quality of the craftsmanship. This decorative jardinière is ideal for displaying a plant, a floral arrangement, or a cachepot, while adding an elegant and classic touch to any interior.
