Description

Refined oil painting on canvas, housed in a painted wooden frame. The painting depicts two eagles, a symbol of strength and triumph, with the Italian flag fluttering behind them. A tree inscribed with the date November 4, 1918, the historic date of Italy's victory in World War I, is visible. On the front, at the bottom right, is the signature of the artist Girolamo Becucci, a painter and sculptor from Impruneta (a town near Florence), along with the date 1921. On the back, the artist's dedication, marking the end of the war, "on the highest peak." This is a painting of great taste and refinement, capable of adding a touch of history and elegance to any space. Florentine craftsmanship from the first half of the 20th century. Measurements: H x W x D 90.5 x 125 x
