Description

Elegant pair of consoles in lacquered wood in refined shades of green and gold, the gilding is done with the Mecca technique. The furniture is topped with tops decorated with fake marble in shades of green. The band under the top is finely crafted with a continuous motif of vertical grooves, interspersed with floral rosettes in relief which give rhythm and plasticity to the structure. The legs end with turned feet, connected to each other by a shaped lower cross with a central decorative element. Louis XVI, Tuscany.
