

Norman Ring In Gold Leaf With The Depiction Of A Lion's Head. 11th-12th Century.

13 000 EUR

Signature : Siciliano

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Gold

Description

Ring in thick, low-grade gold (9 kt) plate with the depiction of the Lion, a symbol of power, courage, strength, and sovereignty for the Normans and Templars. The worn condition of the piece shows constant personal use, with natural wear and a lived-in patina. Given the excessive value of gold in the Middle Ages, and the prestigious depiction depicted, we can believe the object belonged to a Norman nobleman between the 11th and 12th centuries. Medieval Sicily - Gr. 9.8 (Little finger size).
