

Thomas Ender (1793-1875) Rural Landscape With House At The Foot Of A Forest - 19th Century Wat

1 100 EUR

Signature : Thomas Ender

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Water color

Width : 27

Height : 21

Description

A delicate watercolor on paper depicting a peaceful countryside scene. A rural house with green shutters stands beside a dirt track winding through a meadow, surrounded by rustic fences and tall conifers. In the background, the mountainous terrain is suggested in a light, hazy atmosphere, creating a beautiful sense of depth. The artist displays great finesse in the rendering of the vegetation and rural architecture. The subtle palette of ochres, greens, and browns, along with the delicate washes, testifies to the skill of the 19th-century Austrian school of watercolorists. A renowned landscape painter, Thomas Ender was a member of the Vienna Academy of Fine Arts and accompanied numerous scientific expeditions and journeys throughout Europe and the Orient. His

Dealer

L'atelier Franck Michel

Old paintings

Tel : 0493046289

Mobile : 0663496680

28 rue Catherine Ségurane

Nice 06300

watercolors are now held in numerous public and private collections. A charming and luminous work, characteristic of Central European Romantic landscape art. Signed lower right.

Technique: watercolor on paper. Dimensions: 21 × 27 cm (excluding frame). Period: 19th century.

Condition: Paper slightly sunned with a discreet crease in the lower left corner, without major impairment to the readability of the work.