Description

Antique Hand-Painted Wooden Box/Crate - 17th CenturyCharming antique softwood box, hand-decorated with popular floral motifs and a central heart. The decoration features typical folk art elements, with red, green, and black on a natural background, creating a simple yet evocative composition. The box displays a splendid patina, with authentic signs of wear that testify to its history and use over the years. The lid is hinged and features an original metal front clasp. The top edge is finished with a shaped serrated profile, a common feature in folk-crafted household objects. The top surface retains the rustic, worn feel typical of everyday objects of the past.Probably used as a household container for small items, sewing, documents, or personal mementos, today it makes a unique decorative
