Description

Pair of candlesticks in the Troubadour style. This style, which flourished under Charles X and during the Restoration, is a reinterpretation of the Middle Ages and Neo-Gothic styles. It arose from a weariness with Neoclassicism and the influence of England and the novels of Walter Scott. Each candlestick features a fleur-de-lis at its corner, a symbol of the return of royalty. These highly original bronze candlesticks have a beautiful patina and tell a story of history and the Decorative Arts. Careful worldwide shipping.
