

Antique African Horn Spoon Or Ladle, Probably Ethiopian, Beautiful Patina, 35 Cm

220 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Horn

Length : 35 cm

Description

Antique horn scoop or ladle, probably Ethiopian, carved from a single piece of cattle horn and retaining its natural curved form.

The bowl is created by opening the wall of the horn to form a long shallow channel typical of pastoral utensils used for milk, butter, or grain preparations. A small triangular relief cut at the base of the bowl strengthens the transition between the handle and the scoop.

The horn displays a beautiful translucent reddish-brown colour with deep tones and a smooth glossy surface developed through long handling and use. The interior shows honest wear and tool marks consistent with age and traditional use.

Likely dating from the late 19th to early 20th century.
