Description

Bronze Putti Mantel Clock - Louis XVI Style - 19th Century. This elegant Louis XVI style mantel clock, crafted from finely chased bronze, dates from the 19th century. The circular white enamel dial with blue Roman numerals is framed by rich bronze decoration. It is flanked by two finely sculpted seated putti, resting on a base adorned with scrolls and plant motifs inspired by the Louis XVI decorative repertoire. The clock displays a beautiful quality of chasing and a pleasing bronze patina. This decorative clock is an elegant piece that would be equally at home on a mantelpiece or in a classic interior. It features a mechanical movement with a striking bell.
