Description

Glazed grey ceramic tureen. The lid handle is modeled in the form of a flower bud. Produced in the workshop of Jacques Blin (1920-1995). Unsigned piece. Height: 18 cm Diameter: 25 cm Condition: presence of a firing crack. Gallery View This tureen was produced in the workshop of the French ceramist Jacques Blin, an important figure in 20th-century French studio ceramics. Here, the artist offers a highly personal reinterpretation of a traditional domestic object. The simple and well-balanced silhouette of the tureen is enlivened by the softness of the grey-blue mottled glaze and by the delicate flower-bud lid handle, a detail that is both discreet and poetic. This approach, combining utilitarian forms with a sculptural sensibility, is characteristic of Jacques
