Description

Peas 5.3 kg. The artist: Takashi Mine, known as Minetaka, 1913-2003 - Born in Kyoto - He wanted to become a painter, but due to color blindness, he turned to sculpture. From 1933, he studied under Takashi Shimizu (a student of Bourdelle). He exhibited regularly from 1936. In 1937, he opened his studio, "the Parthenon," in the Village Workshop, a "little Montparnasse" near Nagasaki (now the Mine Museum). In 1944, he participated in exhibitions supporting the war effort through art. He primarily created works on mythological themes and was known for his realistic bronze sculptures with surfaces animated by vibrations. He traveled to Europe in 1966, visiting Greece, Italy, and France. An illustrated biography and a certificate will be given to the buyer.
