Description

A curved altar in molded and carved wood, lacquered and richly gilded, adorned with an elegant decoration of shells and foliate scrolls. The ensemble includes its tabernacle, altarpiece, and steps, forming a harmonious liturgical unit. The altar retains its marble altar stone with its relic. The antependium opens at the rear with two molded doors for storing chasubles. A late 17th or early 18th-century work, originating from a chapel in the Grenoble region. In good condition despite the absence of the trumeau canvas - some losses and minor damage. In three sections. Dimensions: 285 cm high x 189 cm long x 90 cm deep. Reference 839
