Description

Art deco gueridon This circular side table has circular platforms with a central pedestal and a sculptural, multi-lobed base. The wood grain of both circular platforms is meticulously arranged into four quadrants that meet at a central point. This diamond pattern, designed to highlight the natural shimmer of the veneer wood, is also visible on the thick, vertical edges of the platforms. This hides the structural core and gives each tier a solid, substantial appearance. The finned pedestal base is composed of four thick, vertical circular discs that are inset into a central cylindrical column. This provides a bold, geometric silhouette. The organic patterns in the grain provide a striking contrast to the precise, architectural lines of the circular shapes. The staggered diameters are ideal for displaying
