Description

Miniature "Portrait of an Old Man with a Hat" - Oil on cardboard - 19th century A fascinating and evocative portrait of an elderly man with a long white beard, captured in profile and wearing a large dark hat. The face, marked by time and rendered with great pictorial sensitivity, emerges from a dark background thanks to a skillful interplay of light and shadow that gives the figure depth and expressiveness. The work features a typical Northern European genre painting style, with a dark background and focused lighting on the face. The warm, textured painting focuses on the intensity of the gaze and the realistic rendering of the facial features, elements that give the figure great psychological depth. Executed in oil on cardboard, the painting features a contoured support and retains the authentic charm
