Description

Exquisite and rare Louis XVI period display cabinet or bar from the late 18th century. This beautiful cabinet features two glass doors at the bottom. The sides are also glazed, which lightens the piece and adds to its charm. It includes a small shelf and a small drawer in the center, also decorated with brass trim. The upper section comprises two shelves with glass backs. The uprights are fluted and reeded, inlaid with gilt brass. It rests on four toupie feet with sabots and rings. This highly decorative and unusual piece can be used as a display cabinet or bar. Its dimensions are ideal and rare, as it is not too large. In superb condition with a magnificent patina. Delivery available in Belgium, France, and internationally. Viewable in our 2500m² showroom at 41 Rue Henri Wafelaerts, 1060
