Description

This large candelabra, 52 cm high, converted into a lamp, is made of gilt bronze in the style of Meissonnier, dating from the Napoleon III period. In the Rococo style, very finely chased, this candelabra, with its brilliant gilding, features a shell motif, repeated in three different ways on the shaped base. The stem is decorated with a continuous acanthus leaf and flower motif. This large candelabra has been electrified. Sold without the lampshade. Height without the socket: 42 cm
