Description

Elegant set of four antique altar palm holders made of turned wood covered with silvered metal, dating from the second half of the 19th century. They feature a classic baluster shape with fluted base and mouldings typical of 19th-century ecclesiastical metalwork. The internal structure is in wood and covered with shaped sheets of silvered metal. These objects were traditionally used in religious ceremonies to hold palm branches during liturgical celebrations. The surface retains a fine antique patina with light wear consistent with age and use. An attractive set for collectors of religious art or for decorating an altar or ecclesiastical interior. Period Second half of the 19th century Origin Italy Materials Turned wood covered with silvered metal Dimensions Height: 15 cm Base diameter:
