Description

Large enamel on silver leaf by the renowned Limoges enameller Camille Fauré (1874-1956). This vibrantly colored enamel depicts an exotic bird perched on a flowering branch in a lush setting. The composition is distinguished by the finesse of the workmanship and the richness of the enamel's nuances, characteristic of the expertise of Limoges workshops in the first half of the 20th century. This piece is signed by Camille Fauré in the lower left corner. The shimmering colors and the delicate floral motifs, treated with relief like the parrot, testify to the technical mastery and refined aesthetic of this great artist. Large enamels like this one are uncommon due to the difficulty of their execution. This enamel is presented in an elegant giltwood frame that perfectly showcases the
