Description

Oil on canvas by Juliette Savalle-Lemarchand depicting a still life with lilies, a book, and a jewelry box. Oil on canvas: 46 x 38 cm; frame: 63 x 55 cm. An architect and painter of the Rouen School, Juliette Savalle-Lemarchand specialized in the representation of flowers. She exhibited regularly at the Rouen Fine Arts Salon. Her work, little known, deserves to be rediscovered. In this oil painting, the artist employs a divisionist technique typical of the first part of her career. The objects are rendered with great finesse: the book is supple and vibrant, while the open jewelry box reveals its secrets. The background, traditionally less detailed, is also exquisitely refined.
