Description

Pair of Lune C-1558 wall lights, produced by Raak in the Netherlands in the 1970s; composed of a circular metal structure and a semi-open diffuser that creates a soft, indirect light. Their sculptural form makes them striking, whether lit or unlit, offering a perfect balance between functionality and minimalist design. A testament to Raak's craftsmanship, these lamps reflect the brand's philosophy of combining modern aesthetics with ambient lighting. With an E27 socket, they can be directly wall-mounted or plugged into a standard electrical outlet.
