Description

DescriptionMarcel North presents a finely detailed etching depicting a carousel pavilion set within a rural village landscape, populated with small figures engaged in everyday activity. Executed with delicate linework and controlled cross-hatching, the composition leads the viewer from the foreground paths and figures toward clustered houses and rolling hills in the distance. The balanced arrangement and observational detail reflect North's skill as a printmaker and illustrator within the tradition of twentieth-century European figurative etching.ArtistMarcel North (1909-1990) was a Swiss painter, engraver, illustrator, and scenographer.Artist DetailsBorn in Dorking, England and raised in Neuchâtel, North studied at the École des arts décoratifs in Strasbourg and
