3 500 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Restauré par notre atelier

Material : Mahogany

Description

Antique Neapolitan Smith dressing table in mahogany with maple inlays, dating back to the early 19th century. The structure consists of a solid, contoured base with a central pedestal and soft edges that lend stability and grandeur. Above, a rectangular white marble top creates a chromatic contrast with the wood. The front is punctuated by a drawer highlighted by a dense floral inlay. The upper part is dominated by a rectangular mirror framed by an ornate carved wooden frame. The sides of the mirror feature volute-shaped elements with curved lines, while the frame is enriched with decorative maple inlays featuring floral and geometric motifs. Condition: Restored by our master craftsmen using the traditional handmade shellac and alcohol method. Origin: Naples, early 19th
